

Preface to the English Edition	8
Introduction	9
1. General Information on Radioactivity	12
1.1 Definitions of the terminology	12
1.2 The effects of radioactivity	15
1.3 The various kinds of radiation	15
1.4 The standard maximum dose	16
Imminent increase in maximum doses	17
1.5 The poison cloud of Chernobyl	18
1.6 The effects of radioactive elements on humans and animals ...
Iodine 131	18
Iodine 129	19
Tellurium 132	19
Plutonium 129	19
Strontium 90	19
Caesium 137	20
Plutonium 103 and 106	20
Ruthenium 103 and 106	20
1.7 Factors that influence the degree of radiation on the body.....	21
1.8 Symptoms after weak radiation	22
1.9 Acute radiation sickness	24
Symptoms of radiation when it first appears.....	25
Chronic damage through radioactivity	25
Long-term damage after increased radiation exposure	26
Radiation damage to embryos.....	26
Damage through low-level radioactivity	27
Radiation damage in plants	29
Direct contamination – fallout and rainout	30
Indirect contamination	31

2. Measures – general, homoeopathic and others	38
2.1 General Measures
How safe is the house?.....
Cleanliness.....
Wounds.....
Sea salt application.....
Water intake.....
Powers of the Mind and Heart.....
Alcohol.....
2.2 Advice for gardeners and garden products.....
The garden.....
The vegetables.....
Mushrooms and berries
The contamination of different foods
2.3 Advice for breastfeeding mothers.....
2.4 What is the action of homoeopathy?.....
2.4.1 Radium bromatum.....
First observations after Chernobyl.....
Repetition of the remedy
Radium bromatum – the picture and symptoms
Radiation sickness from medicinal uses
Testimonials with radium bromatum after Chernobyl
2.4.2 Further homoeopathic remedies against radiation
Caesium
Strontia carbonica
Homoeopathic iodine.....
Kali iodide ((etwas einrücken!)).....
Phosphorus
Rhus venenata
Polonium
Plutonium

The nature of x-ray
2.4.3 The Chakra Flower Essences
2.4.4 Soul and Consciousness.....
Exercises
3. Homoeopathic protection - a possible answer
The Oranur Experiment
4. Nutritional
4.1 Nutritional advice
Sprouts
Sprouting Technique
Wheatgrass
How to make wheatgrass
Other grasses
Citrus fruits.....
Iodine
4.2 Irradiated food
Health implications
The legal situation in Germany
5. Turning away from nuclear energy
5.1 The warning
5.2 The remaining risk
5.3 The human risk factor at the accident in Harrisburg
5.4. Russia –((text will come from RR))
6. Sun and Ozone
6.1 The homoeopathic treatment
Ozone
Ozone's effects on health
6.2 Sun allergy
Sol
Natrium muriaticum.....
Rhus venenata

Solarplexus Essence

Bibliography and related literature

Plutonium

Plutonium is one of the most poisonous substances on earth. The provings below show its action.

Two provings with plutonium 10m

One testing person, male, took the remedy, the other, female, held it in their hand (induction method). One person felt all the negative parts, the other all the positive. Both provings have been put together as one.

On the nature of the remedy

Right at the beginning of the test (by holding the remedy), there is nose bleeding from the right nostril and the head contracts. The ticking of the clock drives him crazy and makes him extremely angry, mad, deadly insane.

Great anger about himself, wants to kill the anger in himself. He feels able to kill everything, strangle, squash everybody, cut everyone's throat, condemn them to death.

Plutonium wants to make the big business. S/he is not concerned about petty things. S/he wants wealth, not only in the shape of money, also in terms of big important issues. They do not necessarily have to be worldly or material riches. She is striving for things that are valuable that will retain their value eternally. She is less interested in temporary riches. In his quest for them, everything else amounts to nothing and is in the way. Of necessity, he will have to attend to the small daily affairs, and this makes him very impatient. Basically, s/he does not want to be bothered by them any more, and when s/he gets asked to attend to them, s/he can get extremely angry and could strangle the other person. He is feeling a deadly intolerance towards everything of little value and that is of a mundane nature. All this he wants to nip in the bud, kill off so that he does not lose time with this. S/he wants to send everyone who is not splendid/grand/magnificent, powerful and not his equal to Hades. If he feels the slightest attachment to something negative, he cannot bear it.

When in a good mood, she wants everybody to share in her riches. She is very generous and prepared to give of her knowledge and her riches, to help someone along as much as possible. He does not, however, give of his riches unconditionally, but exacts a considerable price for his actions. The other has to be absolutely devoted to him, otherwise he will leave them with the words: Be damned.

He is prepared to exert all his energies for something grand, good and something he values highly. If he lets himself be persuaded against his better judgment, the plan is going to fail from the start.

It clears and purifies the organism. Everything not of value will be eliminated. Urging to stool sets in and he has to go to the toilet. Also a pressure on the kidneys is felt.

Physical symptoms

He feels a pressure on the throat. The remedy has an effect on the jaws, as if they are shifting or are not placed properly, especially the right one. He feels something in the left jaw, as if it was about to jump out. There is a feeling as if the jaws are expanding, as if rubber bands are pulling the jaws towards the outside, first the lower then the upper jaw.

On the left of the neck, there is a brief feeling of splinters, as if the neck has been stretched on the left side and there is a stick inside it. The left half of the face and the left eye are being stretched towards the left eyebrow, where faint stabbing pain originates.

Feeling as if the ears are getting bigger, the outer ears are huge like gramophone horns.

From the ears onward, the energy is concentrated on the pituitary gland and outward from there.

The entire head increases in size, expands. He sees the colour rose-orange, rose inside, orange on the outer circle spreading like a ball of fire.

A cutting pain across the throat, as if slit or strangled. There is a soft correction of the second neck vertebra. Now the neck vertebrae are better aligned.

A slight stabbing feeling in buttocks/anus. Anus- and bladder muscles are being worked on. There is a stronger stabbing pain in the anus radiating into the upper thigh.

Then the left side of the head collapses, as if there was a pressure on it. The blood circulation under the skin on the left side of the head is increased, and the feeling of pressure disappears.

Summary

In its positive state, plutonium widens. It may relax contracted jaws and stimulates the circulation in the head area. In its negative state, it contracts. The blood vessels contract, there is a feeling of pressure in the head, the pressure being released through nose bleeding. A murderous fury arises. The remedy has an effect on liver and lung.

It healed a stubborn, deep seated cough that originated from stress and had been only helped somewhat by other remedies, but not fully healed.

The Oranur Experiment

In 1951 Wilhelm Reich set about to seriously experiment with the effect of orgone on radioactivity. Orgone is the name which Reich gave to the life energy, which is called by different names in different countries – prana or chi. Reich also gave the world the means of weather manipulation which has become a bane for mankind and which knowledge the Russians are offering the Japanese as a means of redirecting the radioactive clouds into the ocean. The Russians used this knowledge to let the radioactive clouds rain at other places and protect big cities like Moscow after the Chernobyl catastrophe.

Oranur was coined from: ORgone Against NUclear Radiation. The life energy or orgone encompasses the whole world. This metaphysical fact was shown in the 1930s to exist by Reich. The experiment consisted of placing a very small quantity of radium in a room filled with orgone, which Reich produced with his orgone radiator.

The radium was left every day for one hour in the accumulator. After half an hour one could measure more than normal radioactivity in the background. On the seventh day, observers about 100 metres from the room saw a bluish-violet vibrating cloud rise around the experiment room. As they neared the room they felt sick with intense nausea and colics. They felt a strong pressure on the forehead with vertigo and weakness. The radium was immediately removed from the room and the experiment stopped.

But that was not the end. For months afterward a higher radioactivity could be measured in the background. If somebody tried to stay in the room the same symptoms came up. Three weeks later a higher than normal radioactivity could be measured in a radius of one thousand kilometres.

Much later the experimenters became sick with radioactive sickness. Furthermore their older diseases (those not having been active for longer period) flared up on regular intervals, e.g. heart problems.

As classical physics has no explanation to this, Reich looked for a plausible explanation. He came to the conclusion that uncontrolled radioactivity disturbs the mantle of life energy and turns a part into destructive energy. He called it “Killer-Energy” or DOR (Deadly ORgone energy). Later observations and researches have shown that the areas were affected according to how positive or negative the group consciousness was. Even one person very positive could influence the outcome for the area.

This observation has far reaching consequences for mankind. This means that no matter where an atomic catastrophe takes place the whole world is direly affected. Studies in America in the eighties have substantiated Reich’s conclusions. The studies were done on the after effects of atom bomb tests. One very convincing study was done in a children’s school. One teacher kept a very accurate account which showed a decisive pattern. In those days, atom bomb tests were being done on a basis of every two weeks in USA and Russia, which made it once a week for the people concerned. One to six days after the Nevada atom bomb tests the activity of the children would be reduced to a minimum. They were tired or irritable or weepy. More important in this time phase there were an unnaturally high incidence of sore throats, colds and stomach pains, and also conjunctivitis and children's infectious diseases, especially chicken pox. The teacher started asking the grown ups about their experiences and they too reported a high incidence of colds, headaches etc. After the tests in Russia, some symptoms cropped up too but to a lesser degree. So one should be very careful about looking for mysterious viruses, when radiation is the cause. In his book from 1976, View from Eden, Jerome Eden shows the correspondence to natural catastrophes and atom bomb tests.

The end result of the Oranur Experiment on the experimenters was that after a certain period of time they seemingly became immune to radioactivity. Higher radioactivity had no effect on them. Wilhelm Reich was supposed to have done many more experiments trying to reduce radiation load and to have succeeded, but there is a shroud of mystery around it.

Powers of the Mind and Heart

We hear again and again that radioactivity can be transformed with the help of prayer. We wanted to investigate this contention. About two months after Chernobyl, we tested wheatgrass and prayer and their power to decontaminate milk. One litre of milk was divided into three equal parts. The first part was set aside to determine the quantity of the radioactivity in it. In the second part, we hung a thumb thick bunch of wheatgrass of 10 cm length for ten minutes. With the third part, we decided spontaneously to use this opportunity and hold our hands above the milk for 30 to 60 seconds in a blessing, praying for a dissipation of the radioactivity.

The results showed a decrease in radioactivity by about 5 Becquerel with the wheatgrass method, and a decrease by 10 Becquerel with the blessing method. We repeated this test three more times and always reached the same results.

Theoretically, techniques could be developed which would be able to reduce or eliminate the radioactivity of a radioactive substance. However, these techniques do not exist and at the moment it is not feasible and, those who know have no possibility of developing it. If one looked into the physics of these techniques, then one would have less doubt about the powers of prayer, the heart, and of blessing. But, one does have to have deep faith for it to succeed.